Angorogo guesthouse

Donald Daiwa & Brenda

On the point of Afati Bay with a beautiful view over the ocean.

Here you can visit the sensational scull cave; you can get an outrigger over to the white beach on the opposite point or to Porlock Harbour where the Allies had a major naval hideout and anchorage during World War II.

Behind Bambiti hamlet there are Birds of Paradise right behind the houses and you can spend a full day following a creek where you go from swimming hole to swimming hole and from waterfall to waterfall.

You can snorkel (or dive) on the exciting drop right next to the guest house.

Kwafurina guesthouse

Smith Barewo & Ethel

On the small island deep in the fascinating Kwafurina fjord.

The Kwafurinas are some of the best traditional dancers in the area and they might greet you with a sing-sing welcome.

Outriggers will take you into the different hamlets where life hasn't changed much since old times. The top attraction is the big cave, a half hours walk from the canoe landing, where both smaller bats and big flying fox will hover around and you'll have to look out for lizards and pythons.

The reefs here were badly damaged by the Guba flooding disaster in 2007 but the nice drop by the island now hosts a big colony of red sponges that together with the fish gives the place a very special atmosphere and beauty.

Kofure guesthouse

Davidson Yariyari & Edith

Kofure has been operating for more than 40 years at the point where traditional stories say the sun rises. It's a beautiful sight on a nice morning!

Kofure can take groups of 10 guests or more and is also the one closest to the airstrip and the resort.

A canoe safari into the bay can be combined with hikes up through the string of beautiful villages on Sefoa ridge to Kikita where you have a majestic view of the fjords and ridges. From there you can walk down through virgin forest to the bay.

Baga guesthouse

Godwine Hobart & Anna Fairi

Just a 30 minute canoe ride south of Tufi wharf the guesthouse has a beautiful view of the small bay between Komoa and Baga. There is a nice swimming hole in the forest right behind.

Take an outrigger safari into the majestic Amuian Bay where the virgin rainforest gradually closes in on the steep shores. If you enter the small side bay and walk up through the forest you'll be rewarded with the highest waterfall in the area, dropping into a big swimmingpool.

There are three white sand beaches a short distance from the guest house and there are many good snorkeling spots.

Foi guesthouse, Barabara

Velma, Kevin & Alphius Carson

From Foi guesthouse you have a wonderful view of Foy Bay and the valley below the cliff top location. In the morning and in the evening cockatoos and hornbills fly by, well below your position. In the forest further up the ridge you can visit a Bird of Paradise lek tree where they display in the mornings and afternoons.

A walk through the dense forest in the valley takes you to two beautiful waterfalls, both with excellent pools for a dip, and at the guesthouse you might see both a traditional sing-sing and have tattooing demonstrated.

Garewa guesthouse

Fabian Dairi & Mildred

With its wonderful position on the point between the white beaches of Garewa the place offers both the glorious skies of sunrise and evening and a great base for swimming, snorkeling and fjord excursions.

Boulder waterfall just a short canoe ride and walk into the bay is a special sight and a great place for a dip and a shower.

Garewa is the best snorkeling spot in the vicinity of Tufi station and the resort. It's 'the home of clown fish' and has a good variety of corals and some small drops.

Jebo guesthouse

Lancelot Ginari & Windora

At Jebo – one of the veteran guesthouses that have recently re-opened - you will enjoy a sensational white sand beach on the threshold of your bedroom.

Here you will find great snorkeling and you will have a great starting point for visits to Orotoaba village or to paddle into Uramanoa Bay where two of the three waterfalls coming down from the steep shores end up straight in the fjord – an invitation for a swim!

There are two guesthouses at

Orotoaba

Rodney & Rose's and Jackson & Pamela's

Orotoaba is a particularly beautiful village with its well tended lawns, its coconut boulevard and its elevated views of the ocean and the fjords.

It is the ideal spot for rainforest excursions and it is a prime spot for watching the Birds of Paradise. You need to walk for an hour on narrow paths to get up to the lek tree where they put on their courtship displays, but what a reward.

From Orotoaba you can also start longer treks, south to Siu and Awanen or north to Tumari. Both Tufi and Sefoa ridges are also connected to the paths in the back forest.

Siu guesthouses

Gladstone Javira and Gladstone Aguba

The two guesthouses at Siu both have a wonderful location on the point. Here you might be welcomed with costumes, drums and songs of a traditional singsing.

Outrigger canoes will take you into the way with a waterfall and a flying fox cave. The reefs are right on the doorstep for snorkeling, and in the village traditional crafts are demonstrated.

Awanen guesthouse

Tomlin Maroroa & Blenchly

Coming into Awanen Bay you move on into the nipa palms of the river and there just above the bank is Tom's guesthouse - a beautiful building with a wonderful view of the river valley and the ridges around.

This is one of the best birdwatching spots in the area. From the guesthouse verandah you see hornbills, palm cockatoos and bald-eyed crows fly in and out in the morning and afternoon. By the garden shelter on the ridge you will see Birds of Paradise.

Fishing is good in the sea outside and Tom might take you on a walk in the mangrove forests by the river mouth. The flowers in the guesthouse garden attract butterflies of all different colours and kinds.
